

ABSTRACT

A cable assembly (100) includes a first connector (1) including a first insulating housing (10) and a number of first and second contacts (11, 12) received in the first housing, a cable (3) including a number of conductors (302, 304) electrically connecting with the first contacts, and a second connector including a second housing (20) back to back assembled to the first housing and a number of third contacts (22) electrically connecting with the second contacts of the first connector.